

Manuela Torre is a Political Affairs Officer with the United Nations Secretariat in New York. She works with the Western Africa Division serving two Departments, DPPA (Department of Political and Peacebuilding Affairs) and DPO (Department of Peace Operations). In 2020-2021, Ms.

Torre carried out a special assignment with the Peacebuilding Support Office (PBSO) of DPPA, where she was responsible for advising the Chair of the Central African Republic Configuration of the Peacebuilding Commission. Between 2014 and 2019, she worked with the Africa II Division in the Department of Political Affairs and in the front office of the Assistant Secretary General for Peacekeeping Operations. Prior to joining the UN Secretariat, from 2011 to 2014, Ms. Torre served with the United Nations Operation in Côte d'Ivoire (UNOCI) in multiple capacities, including as Special Assistant to the Head of Mission/Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Côte d'Ivoire. From 2008 to 2010, she worked as Disarmament, Demobilization and Reintegration (DDR) practitioner and training development specialist with the Bureau for Crisis Prevention and Recovery of the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) in Central African Republic, Colombia, Sudan and South Sudan. While undertaking her undergraduate and graduate studies, Ms. Torre carried out internships with the Office of the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Children and Armed Conflict (New York), the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (Brussels), UNDP (New York and Geneva), and the Legon Centre for International Affairs (Legon, Ghana). She is author of publications on post-conflict armed violence, small arms and light weapons and DDR programs. Ms. Torre is fluent in Italian, English, French and Spanish. She holds a PhD in Politics, Human Rights and Sustainability from Sant'Anna School of Advanced Studies (Pisa, Italy), where she graduated in 2010, and a Master's degree in Political Science and International Relations from the University of Pisa (Italy).