Pisa has an international airport, known as Galileo Galilei Airport, which is located in San Giusto neighbourhood in Pisa. It is the main airport in Tuscany and ranked 10th in Italy in terms of passengers. It is also one of the main focus airports for the low-cost Ryanair airline. A new fast and fully automatic train links the airport to the central station every day from 6 a.m. to 12 p.m. Check the Pisa airport website at www.pisa-airport.com for details.

If you land in Florence, Rome or Milan, you can easily take a train from the respective central station to Pisa Central Station directly or with a change in Florence Santa Maria Novella Station.
